

UNAI MEMBER ACTIVITY REPORT 2016/2017

École Universitaire Internationale

Italy

During the 2016/2017 reporting period, École Universitaire Internationale undertook a number of activities that underscore its commitment to UNAI and its principles. The following examples stand out as particularly noteworthy:

During the 2016 year the research and training Institute École Universitaire Internationale organized several trainings, research activities, conferences to support and advanced the basic principles, especially those regarding human rights, peace and conflict resolution and gender. We created and organized a set of conferences with young students, university students and professionals on human rights, gender equality, gender respect, and a set of training lessons with the cooperation of Headmasters, teachers and journalists also to spread a general culture about gender and gender equality. We have done these activities free of Charge and with a team of national and international leading experts, supervised by dr. Sabrina Magris, École Universitaire Internationale president and director of research.

Our Department of Research presented a research on how to prevent sexual violence, gender violence and how to help the victims from all over the world developing an international protocol to understand the needs of victims with different culture, religion, race, or ethnicity and to carry out a prompt response. The research was presented in the USA during the International Congress on sexual violence, domestic violence and Engaging Men & Boys. The research project was awarded by Honorable Mention.

The Institute worked hard also on the peace and conflict field with the participation to international meetings in the Europe and thanks to panel discussion on the importance of inter-cultural and inter-religious dialogue and understanding for peace in post conflict situations.
